

This piece was inspired by a great love of mythical history and literature fused with an interest in the distinction between good and evil, light and dark and myths and legends.

